Valerie and I got back from our vacation just in time to greet the longest day of the year and the first day of summer. We had flown back to Cleveland to visit her parents George and Ruby and see some of the sights. We headed east the first full day there in search of the Amish and went to a well known Amish restaurant named Mary Yoder's in Middlefield, Ohio. Interestingly, though some of the waitresses are non Amish, only Amish are allowed to work there as cooks. We saw several Amish men in their horse and buggies competing with all makes of cars on the local highways. They seemed to tolerate their role as subjects of interest for camera laden tourists.

The next day the four of us headed for Niagara Falls which is a pleasant drive from Cleveland. Just head east along Lake Erie and then north to the Niagara River. Niagara Falls is surrounded by the cities of Niagara Falls, Ontario and Niagara Falls, New York. The greatest number of motel rooms and other tourist related businesses are on the Canadian side of the border. Another advantage to staying in Canada is the favorable exchange rate. Depending on where you change your American money an American dollar can bring from $1.25 to $1.34 in Canadian money.

The Horseshoe Falls, American Falls and Bridal Falls are some of the greatest sights on earth. The falls attract people from all over the world, most hypnotized by the power of falling water. Milling around as close as possible to Horseshoe Falls, cameras aimed and clicking, was the most varied group of people I have ever been around. It made me think of lunch time at the United Nations commissary. The Falls had a good effect on this mix of people who were all getting along.

One of the things that surprised me most about the Falls was the amount manipulation of the amount of water which flows over them. Between April 1 and October 31 is the maximum flow of water over the Falls but only during the tourist hours of 8:00am - 10:00pm and later from 8:00am - 8:00pm. When the tourists retreat to their motel rooms after watching the nightly lightshow the water is turned off. Just kidding, but it is cut in half. From November 1 through March 31 the flow of water over the Falls is half of that during the tourist season. The water that doesn't make it over the Falls is removed upstream and transported around the Falls to two huge reservoirs below the Falls to provide hydro-electric power for both Canada and the United States.

Canada takes the prize for the highest sales tax we've encountered. Between the government sales tax at 7% and the provincial sales tax at 8% you can add 15% to everything you buy. Plus 10% More on alcohol. Ouch!

We headed back home to Cleveland but not without stopping for a few hours at Waldamere Amusement Park, located just west of Erie, Pennsylvania. It was known as a trolley car park when it opened in 1896 because of the trolley line which brought fun seekers out to it. 98 years later the trolley is gone but people from all over continue to visit the park.

Back in Cleveland George and I went to see an Indian baseball game at the new Jacobs Field baseball park which opened in downtown Cleveland this April. Looking around at Jacobs Field was a reminder how everything old is new again. The ball park is one of a new breed which are built for baseball and not as combined football and baseball stadiums. Camden Yards in Baltimore is another of this new breed. The Indians had shared a home with the Cleveland Browns football team in the city's venerable 80,000 seat Municipal Stadium built in 1932. The new baseball parks are modeled after the small, comfortable, and fondly remembered baseball stadiums like Ebbets Field in Brooklyn, Comiskey Park and Wrigley Field in Chicago. Between a new ball park and a winning team Cleveland was in a baseball frenzy with attendance at their new park already guaranteed to the most ever in team history. Municipal Stadium is located just west of the construction site of the Rock'n'Roll Hall of Fame Museum.

Will We Remain Free

by T. J. Efferson, Langlois

If a free America is to be preserved then the first and greatest enemy of freedom must be contested — the notion that freedom is no longer possible in a modern world, that individualism as a philosophy of life is a relic of the past. We hear it everywhere. In fact, we're bombarded by such pronouncements from the time we first go to school. "Individualism was a good thing in its day," we are told, "but it's no longer workable." A growing flood of socio-economic studies pours forth from the nation's universities proclaiming that, while a free market is certainly productive, the underlying fundamentals of laissez-faire capitalism were nefariously unsound. Thus we must move toward a more "public spirited," a more "nationally planned" social structure.

Such appeals speak soothingly to us, with benign and futuristic phrases: "new social vistas", "upcoming challenges of America's third century", "the necessity to build a modern era of co-operation between the greatness of government and the productivity of the business world." It all sounds very progressive and necessary. The world is changing, and therefore America must change also. A laissez-faire economy is just not applicable to modern times. "We cannot afford the anarchy of the capitalist system," explain the experts. "Individualism may have worked fine in frontier society, but not in a modern technological society." And we obediently clasp such fateful declarations to our bosoms without so much as an afterthought.

Should it not be obvious by now, in light of the world's present catastrophic economic convulsions, that it is actually socialism and welfarism that cannot work in this modern technological society.

Incredibly the purveyors of the "New World Order" still cling to their dream of merging Eastern socialism and Western capitalism into an authoritarian World Welfare State, where equality of conditions for everyone is mandated by bringing any and all individual achievement into a vulgar mathematical equation. The product when computed, can only reduce the human race to the lowest common denominator, a mindless servile global society.

To "re-evaluate individualism" is to question the moral legitimacy or freedom itself and the natural right of all men to personally direct the furtherance of their own lives. To say that we must "legislatively modify individualism," is to say we must "forcefully modify humans," which is to attempt to make mankind into mechanized cogs.

What must be done in America today is to restore individualism, not re-evaluate it or modify it. Individualism cannot be "modernized" it cannot be made "relative to our time." It transcends time. It is the core, the genesis, the foundation of all freedom, all prosperity, all dignity, all life. Without it as our guide, our future will be bleak and despotic for sure.

Video Donations

The Friends of the Port Orford Library have donated eight videos about Native Americans to the library. They cover tribes from all over the United States. This is a very fine addition to our video collection. The library now has 275 videos.

Books for the children's Summer Reading program were also purchased. The children should have plenty of new material to keep up their reading skills while school is closed. The summer Reading Program will begin on June 30, at 3:00pm, in the City Council Chambers. It would be helpful if you signed up beforehand at the library.

Scientific American Magazine is another generous donation made by the Friends.

The Friends of the Library have volunteered to keep the library open two additional hours. We will now be open from 10:00am to 5:00pm on Wednesday and Friday and will not close for lunch on those days.

Heritage Society Picnic

The Point Orford Heritage Society's first annual salmon feast was held recently at the Port Orford Heads State Wayside on Coast Guard Hill in Port Orford. Members and friends feasted on salmon cooked in traditional Native American style on stakes around an alder fire. There was an abundance of dishes and wonderful desserts shared by all.

Agnes Pilgrim and her husband Grant prepared the salmon. Agnes explained how the salmon was cooked and talked about her people, the Takelmas. After the meal they chanted "happy songs" accompanied by Grant's drumming.

The event brought together a diverse cross section of the community. Agnes Pilgrim said she felt she had a new family now in Port Orford. Martha Weaver-Britell, President of the Society, said that one of the missions of the Society is to bring together all the people in the community to share their stories. The Society will be sponsoring other cultural events throughout the year including presentations on the history of the area.

Port Orford has a rich history. The area was a gathering place for Native peoples from what is now Oregon and California. In the 18th century sea otters brought traders from far away lands. Port Orford itself was the first town site on the southern Oregon coast. A US military fort established in 1851 was the departure point when the aboriginal people of the area were moved to reservations in 1856.

Mining was important in the mid 1800's and brought many people to the area. Lumbering began then and continues as a source of livelihood today. Early ranching families contributed immensely to the development of the area. The history of this area is a microcosm of the history of Oregon.

The Point Orford Heritage Society is a new non-profit organization to preserve the heritage and history of Port Orford and the surrounding area. The Society intends to establish a museum where the local story will be preserved for residents and interpreted for visitors to the area. Current projects of the Society include video taping knowledgeable residents to preserve as much of the oral history of the area as possible.

Membership in the Society is open to everyone. Dues are $15 a year and include copies of the Point Orford Heritage Society's quarterly newsletter and discounts to Society sponsored events.

For more information about the Society and its projects or to obtain a membership application contact Vice President Viola Cuatt at 332-2352 or write to the Point Orford Heritage Society at P.O. Box 1132, Port Orford, OR 97465.

county into a target for administrative control, regulation and unnecessary restriction?

We real estate agents know many homes are sold to out-of-towners for the specific purpose of becoming a retirement nest someday. Until the time of their retirement, they "afford" the home by renting it out to visitors during the summer.

Proponents of the ordinance want to make use the use of any dwelling (in any zone) as a vacation rental a conditional use, to be approved through a public hearing process. Ugh.

Could this be a plot hatched from a city or county up the coast that's designed to lure away our visitors? Nah....that's too dastardly! Then, why are we doing this to ourselves?

Joan O'Dwyer
Gold Beach

P.S. The initial orientation for the commissioners on this ordinance proposal was on June 9. So the process is moving ahead. Coming up on Wednesday, July 13 at 7:00pm at the Gold Beach Annex, public input is welcomed by the commissioners. They intend to make their final decision a week later on July 20, at 10:00am.

"If God had wanted man to walk, He'd have given him four feet, but He gave him two — one to put on each side of a horse."

- Spike Van Cleve

Dear Editor:

I am not speaking as the President of the Gold Beach Chamber of Commerce, but as a real estate agent and as an advocate for property owners and of the tourist industry.

I discovered that an ordinance change has been proposed to the Curry County Commissioners that is intended to control a homeowner using a home or part of a home as a "vacation rental". This ordinance would affect all homeowners in the county. We'd be the first county in Oregon to enact this kind of regulatory ordinance. Why should we be on the cutting edge of this issue?

Just as the fish habitats need to be maintained, enhanced and protected, we need to maintain, enhance and protect all of the habitats that attract tourists and vacationers to this area. Get rid of one habitat, and you'll feel the effects. Some of our tourists will migrate elsewhere for their vacation.

I personally feel that making use of a home as a vacation rental is a good, sound way to maintain a home. Many homeowners subsidize their living allowances by renting to visitors. They don't get rich or make enough money to become a business, but it helps them make ends meet in the middle. Why turn a Mom and Pop industry that benefits the

Choices

A three-week summer school session is being planned for Driftwood Elementary students who received Chapter 1 services and are entering either 2nd or 3rd grade. Parents have been notified with information sent home with their child.

The session will run from August 1-18, meeting in the mornings Monday through Thursday. The program is designed to help prepare students for the upcoming school year through creative problem solving and practice of basic math and reading skills.

The program focuses on learning about our local community and will include field trips, individual and group activities, guest speakers, and computer lab activities. It promises to enhance the children's learning in an environment of exploration and fun.

The program will be directed by Stephanie L. Stevens, our teacher for Chapter 1 at Driftwood, with assistance from Laurie Feldhaus, who has been a teaching assistant with Chapter 1 for four years.

If you have a child whom you believe qualifies for this fun learning experience, and will be able to attend for the full three weeks, contact Driftwood School (332-2712) or the School District Office (332-5241).

Calling All Skate Escapees

The Sixes Grange loves a party, and we're looking for all the kids who enjoyed skating in the Grange hall last winter. The more of you who participate, the better. Your part is to show up at the City Hall on July 4th, 10:00 AM for the line up. Please wear your wheels of whatever choice you like (skates, blades, skateboards, soapbox, bike trike, wagon, unicycle, stilts, what have you got?) and dress up in whatever you like, but dress up! The crazier your costume the better. Remember it's the birthday of our nation so red, white or blue would be most appropriate, also the Jubilee theme is "Treasures of the Sea". The more you touch on the themes the better. Do you have a hambone pet at home? Dress it up and bring it along on a leash!

We are looking for a fun presentation and we need all 80 of you who enjoyed the skate nites at the Grange. Moms and Dads, and all Grange members are encouraged to participate in this event. All children must be met immediately after the parade behind the Whale Cove Restaurant. Any questions, call Julie, 332-7635.

Fair Lowers Prices

A unanimous decision by the Curry County Fair Board, will lower admission prices overall, and allow all people born in the year 1934 to be admitted Free on opening day of the fair, July 28, 1994.

Everyone is invited to share the sixtieth anniversary of the fair, which started in 1934. "Cheers to Another 60 Years!" will honor those who had a special part in making the fair what it has been over the last 60 years. Opening day is also "Kid's Day" with special rates available on carnival rides.

Children age 6-12 will be admitted into the fair for $2, while children under six are admitted free. Regular admission for adults is $5. Senior day will be Friday, July 29 this year, with a reduced price of $3 for seniors. This year also has the special "Family Ticket Package", that sells for $10 and is good for two adults and up to three accompanying children.

"Come enjoy the savings, and enjoy one of the best small town fairs offered throughout the state" encourages Ron Crook, manager for this year's event. For more information contact the Curry County Fairgrounds at 247-4541.

Goofy Golf Tournament

Golf lovers and golf haters both will warm to the goofy antics planned for Saturday, June 25, when the Gold Beach Lion's Club hosts its first golf tournament, "Go for the Gonzo and Help Fill Curry's Heart," at Huntley Park on the south bank of the Rogue River. Tee-off time is 11:00am.

Golfing experience is neither necessary nor recommended. Participants will use tennis balls instead of golf balls. Cheating is encouraged in the name of fun, says organizer Dave Cross. Bring your own clubs if available.

Registration is $5 per golfer on site. All proceeds will benefit Curry General Hospital's current fund-raising campaign known as "Fill Curry's Heart."

Canine guest, Mac the tennis ball finder, will be available for congratulatory paw-shaking and scratches behind the ear. Mac lives with his owners Ray and Penny Inman. When Ray Inman noticed a news article requesting tennis balls, he donated a bag of 60+ balls—all uncovered by Mac during walks in Gold Beach.

Participants are encouraged to stay through lunchtime when gonzo gastronomes will have their pick of Lions Club hot dogs and hamburgers.

For more information, phone event coordinator David Cross at 247-6316 or Curry General Hospital at 247-6621.

Besides starting each day with several cups of coffee we took turns reading different sections of the Plain Dealer, Cleveland's one newspaper. There was an article one morning about several homeowners in one of the suburban cities to the east of Cleveland who had been sent warning letters by city hall telling them that the dandelions growing on their front lawns were too high and to cut them down. Imagine how I felt when we arrived back in Port Orford late Monday night and I noticed how the dandelions in my yard were all well above the 8" maximum height. Would the dandelion police be far behind? Would there be a letter in the mail from Curry County? No, but read Joan O'Dwyer's letter in this paper for this week's edition of more government interference.

Besides bringing good luck to the Indians who won every game while we were in town we flew into Cleveland during an unprecedented heat wave and left nine days later with the temperatures and humidity remaining at an uncomfortable level. Daytime temperatures hovered in the mid 90's even though the average for this time of year is 78 degrees. One afternoon we watched as a summer thunderstorm provided a show of lightning strikes. We didn't know it at the time but a couple of miles from where we stood watching the lightening under a covered walkway at Richmond Mall, an off duty Cleveland Heights police officer was struck and killed by one of the strikes while painting his house.
