Senior News
By Mary Yoder

October 29 was Rotary luncheon. Volunteers working were Marge Kyle did the dining room – Norma Ellis, Jane Black, Greta Carver did the cooking and serving. There was a new volunteer Roger Konkel helping Bill Butt and Owen Miller. I think they taught him what to do.

November birthday people Dick Clothier – 1 – Nadine Viles – 3 – Lois Cook – 4 – Norma Ellis – 7 – Lowell Crecy – 10 – Jim Black – 15 – Thelma Lagace – 24 – Mickie Marks – 24 – John Frankovich – 26 – Gayle Lee – 30 – Hope I got them all. November 1 was the birthday party – real nice ice cream cake, etc. I think all had a good time.

Now back one day. October 31 – the luncheon. It was a potluck and was there ever lots of good food. Some one brought bean salad – made my day. Here are those that made it so nice – Thelma Lagace –

Lorraine Hass – look liked Bill Butt was doing some cooking – what's his name was also helping. Yes some wore costumes --Norma Ellis and Glorine Godfrey were picked for the prizes. I don't know who was first or second but it was fun.

Oh yes for the birthday party volunteers were Lorraine Hass, Pauline Lenox, Bessie Laursen and Thelma Lagace – nice going ladies.

Cards November 2 – high Lucille Tubbs – second Betty Keeler – low EJ Drew.

November 7 is the regular luncheon 11:30am – rummage sale 8:00am till 1:00pm. November 8 is the breakfast 8:00am till 1:00pm. Also rummage sale 8:00am till 1:00pm. Just a reminder November 13 is Lion's Bingo – best come – money goes for kids' glasses.

Coast Geology

A free slide presentation on coastal geology, sponsored by the CoastWatch program, will be offered this Saturday at Southwestern Oregon Community College. Marine geologist Roger Hart will offer a broad overview of the coast's geological history, and touch on current issues such as erosion.

The talk will take place from 1:00-3:00pm, in Stensland Room 202 above the college bookstore at SWOCC (1988 Newmark in Coos Bay) on Saturday, November 7.

The CoastWatch program, which is presenting the event, enlists volunteers who keep watch over a mile of Oregon's shoreline. It is a project of the Oregon Shore's Conservation Coalition.

“Roger Hart's talk will be of interest to anyone who is fascinated by the coast, whether or not they are interested in adopting a mile,” says CoastWatch Coordinator Phillip Johnson. “Everyone is welcome to come. We will very briefly describe CoastWatch – those who do have an interest in adopting a mile of the coast are certainly invited to get involved.”

Letter to the Editor,

In reply to Ms. Gordon's letter, my wife and I will feel much safer knowing that she is watching the activities and cars that visit our property. Therefore if we have a break-in we can check with her to get the tag #'s of the vehicles. I have to apologize though, we have not been that vigilant about the cars parked at her house, but from here on we will keep track of all tag #'s, time of arrival and time of departure to be able to give her the same information. Thank you so much Ms. Gordon for saving us the price of a security system.

Soccer Play-Off Game

Pacific High School will host Delphian School of the Central Valley League in a first round soccer play-off game on Saturday, November 7, at 2:00pm. Admission prices, as set by Oregon School Activities Association, are students, $4.00 and adults $6.00.

Need Your Empties

Please give your cans or bottles with Oregon deposits on them Sunday November 8 after 1:00pm. There will be people from St. John's Catholic Church out to collect them. The children of St. John's have begun to raise money to help relieve the pain and suffering in Haiti. Only 190 miles from our shores, in Haiti, is a town called Gonaives. There is a three-city block slum where over 50,000 of the poorest of the poor live in terrible poverty and misery. St. John's is working with Project Hands Together: Aid to Catholic Missions of Haiti.

Every cent collected for Hands Together goes toward helping the poorest of God's children. The money goes to feeding centers, schools, medical clinics, orphanages, etc. Please know your contributions go toward making a difference in people's lives.

If you want to be sure to donate your empties you can call 332-9765 to leave your name, address and phone number. Thank you.

Rummage Sale

The League of Women Voters of Curry County is holding a rummage sale Saturday, November 7, 1998, from 9am till 2pm at the Gold Beach Senior Center. This is a countywide effort and should have interesting articles contributed from the Port Orford, Gold Beach and Brookings areas.

Proceeds from this fundraiser will be used for future candidate forums held in Port Orford, Gold Beach and Brookings and for other League non-partisan projects. Anyone wishing to donate items for this sale, please call 332-9002.

Port Orford Watershed
By Dave Wilken, Chairman
Port Orford Watershed Council

Sheree Stewart, the Oregon Department of Environmental Quality's coordinator of pure drinking water activities, was in Port Orford on Tuesday, October 27th, along with Pam Blake of the DEQ's Coos Bay office. The two met with City officials, Watershed Council members, and concerned citizens to discuss the Federal Pure Drinking Water Act and its implications for Port Orford's water supply.

Stewart's visit, planned several weeks ago, coincided with the recent discovery of salt contamination of Garrison Lake, which has cut the City's water source options to only one, Hubbard Creek. Her message was that DEQ is available, if the community so desires, to help with a planning and implementation effort to protect our water sources in both the near and far term. Such an effort would be similar to those of several other communities, all of which have taken a systematic approach to identifying threats to purity, volume, and reliability of local public water systems, and then figuring out how to deal with those threats.

Blake, whose primary responsibilities are dealing with "non point source" water pollution and water quality problems, had arranged for Stewart's visit in response to a request from the Watershed Council. They had spent time in Bandon a day earlier, bringing the same message to that community, which also faces various threats to its drinking water, but Port Orford's crisis was a real eye opener for them. In addition to the salt in the lake, some forty-percent of the forest property upstream from the Hubbard Creek reservoir will soon change hands. The owner has offered to sell it to the City, but if such a deal cannot be made, it will go on the open market. The property, which has a large volume of excellent timber, could well end up being logged. Even under strict Forest Practices enforcement, removal of the marketable trees would diminish Hubbard Creek flows for years to come. Stewart's experience has convinced her that the best way to deal with water quality problems is to prevent them in the first place, through identifying the possible threats before human activities proceed. For example, most turbidity problems result from careless logging, poorly planned roads and land clearing, and inattention to maintenance of roads, driveways, building sites, etc. Poor design or neglect of septic systems in a watershed result in health threats downstream, making additional treatment necessary. Both threats become ever more expensive to correct, while doing it right from the beginning makes treatment cheaper, easier, or even unnecessary.

Hubbard Creek reservoir's watershed will be analyzed over the next several weeks, with Garrison Lake's watershed to be next. Stewart will be providing technical assistance, advice, coordination of activities with other state agencies, and information on funding sources for such things as property acquisition, conservation easements to be negotiated with property owners. Port Orford's situation will be a high priority. She expects to be back in town shortly after the first of next year; meanwhile the City and the Watershed Council will be working on all aspects of protecting our drinking water.

Community Partners

Curry County's Community Partners brings its next regular meeting to Port Orford where it hopes to receive public comment on family and health issues affecting north county citizens, announced Thelma Hoffmann, coordinator.

The meeting is set for 9am, Friday, November 6th, in the Port Orford City Hall council chambers.

Community Partners is a group comprised of countywide organizations striving to bring well-being to all Curry County residents. Its members want to hear opinions, suggestions and other statements regarding any and all issues affecting people.

Currently, the group's "Safety Net" is working on solving problems that plague at-risk families whose needs are not being met by any one agency. It's for anyone with a particular concern or anyone who knows of a child or family whose needs are not being met. Also, the group is planning to conduct a countywide health assessment survey.

"This is the group that can make things happen," Hoffmann says. "We just need to know what the priorities are."

Those who cannot attend, but still wish to make their voices heard, can phone Hoffmann at (541) 247-7011, ext. 283.

Letter to the Editor,

We all deserve a change of pace from the seemingly endless election. So I want to point out something positive about our town.

The planter box located at the North Curry "Blue Building" has been consistently lovely. Through all seasons. And now the keeper of this planter box has taken on two more.

We all owe a thank you to Carol Sucheby for her time and effort. She has only been in Port Orford for a couple of years now, but she is quietly making Highway 101 more beautiful. Would be nice to have more like her.

Hats off to Carol.

AUTHORIZED AND PAID FOR BY THE COMMITTEE TO ELECT CHERYL THORP

Urban Legends by Valerie Jean Kramer

Seems like every day I get email from some well-intentioned, if mis-guided, person who, in their zeal to help others, merely helps perpetrate false information and wastes everyone's time and energy.

Once again, for those of you new to the net, let me offer some advice. . .

Chain letters, pyramid schemes, etc. are often illegal and almost never make anyone rich except the perpetrator who has probably mailed out millions of them.

If an email encourages you to pass it on to several of your friends, ALWAYS stop and think. If you don't know FOR A FACT of your own personal knowledge (ie. not just become someone told you so and you believe them) that it is true, then check with the web site <http://urbanlegends.miningco.com/> to see if it is a known hoax or scam. Be sure to check their "Current Web Hoaxes" page. You'll probably find 99%+ of these kinds of things are already well known and the net doesn't need one more newbie adding to the problem!

Curry County Commission on Children and Families

The Curry County Commission on Children and Families will have their regularly scheduled meeting at 4:00pm on Tuesday, November 17, in the Blue Room of the Lower Level of the Curry County Office Building Annex, 94235 East Moore Street, Gold Beach.

CCCCF Focus Committees' Meeting and Workshop Schedule:

Health Committee will meet at 4:30pm on Thursday, November 5, in the Board Hearing Room of the Curry County Office Building Annex.

Community Development Committee will meet at noon on Friday, November 6, at the Wheelhouse Restaurant in Port Orford.

Education Committee will meet at 5:00pm on Monday, November 9, in the Blue Room of the Lower Level of the Curry County Office Building Annex.

Finance Committee will meet at 3:30pm on Tuesday, November 17, in the Blue Room of the Lower Level of the Curry County Office Building Annex.

Election Upset

One of the biggest stories in this November's election was the victory of former professional wrestler Jesse "The Body" Ventura for governor of Minnesota. Ventura ran on the Reform Party ticket and swept aside the Republican and Democratic candidates. Ventura got 37% of the vote to 34% for the Republican candidate Norm Coleman and 30% for the Democratic candidate Hubert Humphrey III. This is not Ventura's first elected office as he has served as the mayor of Brooklyn Park, Minnesota.

Ventura was born in 1952. His wrestling career was cut short, supposedly due to exposure to agent orange in Vietnam. He then became the greatest "color man" (reporter) wrestling has had. Who knows what further triumphs await him!

What are the Darwin Awards?
 The Darwin Awards are an accolade awarded to individuals who benefit the race by applying a bit of chlorine to our communal gene pool and removing themselves in a manner that uniquely and dramatically shows that how necessary such removal was. They are awarded most often posthumously, but certainly after the recipient has rendered him/herself incapable or reproduction. Although Darwin Award stories often sound like urban legends, the award is only made in honor of real people and verifiable events. Here is an example - This fellow won the 1996 Darwin Award. If you find this interesting, you'll find this and lots more under "Darwin Awards" at <http://urbanlegends.miningco.com/mbody.htm>

Police said a lawyer demonstrating the safety of windows in a downtown Toronto skyscraper crashed through a pane with his shoulder and plunged 24 floors to his death.

A police spokesman said Garry Hoy, 39, fell into the courtyard of the Toronto Dominion Bank Tower early Friday evening as he was explaining the strength of the building's windows to visiting law students.

Hoy previously had conducted demonstrations of window strength according to police reports. Peter Lauwers, managing partner of the firm Holden Day Wilson, told the Toronto Sun newspaper that Hoy was "one of the best and brightest" members of the 200-man association.

My Nighttime Girl

© 1992 by Valerie Jean Kramer

My nighttime girl,
Wears her hair long and flowing.
She is waiting for me by the door,
When I get home tired and cranky.
Her loving greeting helps cheer me up,
And soothes my spirit.
Her eyes follow my every move.
We caress, we eat, we pass a peaceful evening.
She can't wait to get to bed,
And curl up warmly together.
The last thing I hear at night is her purr,
And I feel the weight of her warm little body lying on my stomache.
My four-footed lover.
My nighttime girl.

How to be a Kitten

1. Take plenty of catnaps.
2. Indulge in gourmet dining at every opportunity.
3. Fight fiercely with fellow felines.
4. Boldly go where no kitten has gone before.
5. Climb every mountain.
6. The world consists of food, other cats, and cat toys.
7. Remember the immortal words of Jughead Jones, "Half a loaf is better than no rest at all."
8. What do they mean, "It's a dog's life"?
9. It's a jungle out there!
10. If someone stares at it, it must be a good place to lie down.

It's Cold Outside
By Donna L. Hoffmann

Brrr...It sure has been cold lately. The one week of heat and sunshine was just a fluke. When driving to work one morning last week, all the fields south of Langlois were frosty! Looked almost as if it had snowed; part of Bandon had frozen roofs. But so far, my winter garden is doing well. I just hope we don't have a hard frost any time soon. And I haven't put my spring bulbs in yet. (daffodils, wood hyacinth, crocus) It's been raining lately on the weekends so I'm hoping for a clear day or else dig out my rain slickers. Now is the time to plant spring bulbs. And if you plan on planting tulips, it's a good idea to refrigerate them for four to six weeks before planting as they need a chilling period in order to produce beautiful blossoms. If they don't have a cold period, they don't have well formed blooms. And of course, you don't have deer around if you're planting tulips. They're the third favorite food for deer, right after roses and azaleas. And holly tree/shrub owners, I hope you sprayed last month for the blight, or if you didn't, do so soon. Even if you did spray, continue to make sure to keep the fallen holly leaves and debris out from under the tree. You'll have a healthier tree using preventative measures.

When we had our garden tour, one delightful lady brought a baggie with a plant she wanted identified. I had just read about it and was able to identify it easily. The plant is called Indian-pipe, monotropa uniflora. And it does indeed look like a way, white pipe although sometimes pinkish. They grow in shaded, mature coniferous forest, at low elevations. The roots of Indian-pipe are connected by fungi to the roots of nearby coniferous trees. Because of this the plant makes chlorophyll and cannot make its own food, obtaining nutrition from the conifer. In the Straits Salish and Nlaka'pamux languages, the name for Indian-pipe means 'wolf urine'. It is said to grow wherever a wolf urinates. Among the Nlaka'pamux it is an indicator for wood mushrooms in the coming season. It was used as a poultice for wounds that would not heal. It is also called a 'ghost flower' or 'corpse plant'. A very interesting plant to find indeed.

Having a gardening related problem? (Not the weather!) Call the Master Gardener's office on Wednesdays, 9:00am until noon, 1-800-356-3986. Good gardening.

Future Shock Guaranteed By Graeme Graydon

During dairy farming days, my family and I would occasionally receive a young person for a working vacation on our farm. A friend in Auckland, who was a counselor, worked on the theory that his client would benefit from having the mind and hands busy in a healthful lifestyle before making new beginnings back in the city. One of those was John, a bright young executive type, well educated, a production manager at a brassiere factory --I never did ask exactly what that entailed – and here I am today still wondering and wanting to know – Oh well...

John fitted in with our own family lifestyle very well, quick to learn and eager for responsibility. He was surprised to find that I didn't have a weekly work schedule to keep the farm running smoothly. I could tell that he thought I didn't have good control and that my management could do with a lift. Each evening he would ask for tomorrow's schedule. "Let's see, if the weather is right we'll have a go at top dressing the Top Barn Paddock, but if there's still a heavy dew, we'll chop thistles till the grass dries. One of us will have to be around for the A.B. Technician – maybe there'll be a petrol delivery tomorrow and if it's windy we'll go on with the new fence." It would drive him nuts not to have tomorrow neatly planned.

When John was ready, we planned for a 3-day break for all the family. He was thrilled at the prospect of being in control and began to draw up a work program. I didn't say anything but secretly I was beginning to wonder if I could do things better. Maybe he was right.

We took off and left him confidently in charge. Three days later we came back to a very humbled young man.

It seems that all was well until he went to start the tractor to do the feeding out. To his utter dismay, one of the rear tires was flat. (I had worked that Ferguson for 8 years and never seen a flat). From that point on, his check-list was about as useful as a banana skin. By the time he found someone in town to fix the tire, his carefully planned day was in tatters and the next two days weren't much different.

To his credit he rose to the challenges and handled them well, but his attitude towards my ways turned to respect. The Universe had given him a short and dirty course in Crisis Management and the guaranteed vulnerability of well-laid plans.

Several times I have made my life all neat and tidy to take care of the future, but each time, something has happened to blow it all away and I have started all over again.

The good news is that each time, I found more life because of it.

Meeting Changed

The November meeting of the Port Orford-Langlois School District 2CJ Board of Directors has been changed to November 17. The meeting will be held at 7:00pm in the Pacific High School Library.
