Council Supports POORT By Evan Kramer

The city council held its last meeting of the 2005/2006 fiscal year on Thursday, June 29, with all councilors and mayor present.

First on their list of things to accomplish at this meeting was taking another look at several land use ordinances. These had first been considered at the council meeting on Monday, June 19, but the council had not had time to study them. The council approved Ordinance 2006-09 (definitions); Ordinance 2006-10 (erosion prevention); Ordinance 2006-11 (surface water management); and Ordinance 2006-12 (geological hazard zone). They passed Ordinance 2006-13 (subdivisions, amends minor partitions) by a 4-2 vote and it will be reexamined later.

The council also passed Ordinance 2006-15, setting fee schedules by resolution.

The council approved Resolution 2006-40: budget appropriations adjustments for the 2005-06 budget after city financial officer Dave Johnson explained the reasons for the supplemental budget. The city had higher than anticipated unemployment claims and will use most of the contingency funds to pay for the adjustments. They have $8,000 left in the contingency fund. Areas which went over budget include legal services, advertising, and software maintenance. The city paid out $8,000 more in unemployment benefits than budgeted.

The council unanimously approved Resolution 2006-41 to endorse and participate in the Port Orford Ocean Resource Team (POORT) efforts to involve the community. The Resolution endorsed the vision, principles and community-based process of the POORT. Leesa Cobb, POORT director told the council that the organization is working on a community based fisheries project. She spoke about the fisheries being managed on a local scale. Cobb told the council POORT had recently received a grant from the Ford Family Foundation for $250,000 to support the POORT office and scientific work.

The next item on the agenda was discussion of the contract for planning services with the Curry County Planning Department. City Administrator Mike Murphy was not present at the meeting but had sent a memo to the council with his thoughts on the matter. Murphy said there hadn't been enough time to digest all the information. Murphy told the council in his letter that he had spoken with a few people about taking on the job as planning director. The city administrator will continue to look at the options which include contracting with the county or the city hiring its own planning director and then running its own planning department. Currently the city does not have a contract with the county to provide planning services but the county will continue to provide them for now.

The council discussed the contract for engineering services with SHN Engineering. Steve Donovan from SHN did not attend the meeting. The council received a memo from Mike Murphy on this situation and he told the council he is negotiating with SHN for being the city engineer but had spoken to them about not bidding on city jobs. The council authorized the city administrator to keep negotiating with SHN.

The council added a last minute item to the agenda regarding two beer gardens to be put on during the July 4 holiday weekend. One was an application from the Port of Port Orford, Port Orford Fishermen's Association and Emma Rosenberry for a beer garden at the Port on July 2 during the fishermen's crab feed. This application and one by Chris and Julie Hawthorne to serve beer at the former Wheelhouse Restaurant on July 3 and 4 were both turned in later than required which is ten days in advance. Police Chief Mark Creighton told the council he needs guidelines from the council for signing the temporary permits to serve alcohol. He told the council he had reviewed both applications and they looked fine. Both parties have provided proof of insurance.

Councilor Jim Campbell made a motion to authorize the two alcohol permits for the July 4 holiday. Both parties are also required to get authorization from the Oregon Liquor Control Commission. The council voted 5-1 in favor with councilor Milton Finch voting no. Earlier in the discussion he had expressed a concern about serving alcohol in Battle Rock Park on one of the days (July 3) the Jubilee Committee was putting on an alcohol free dance in the park. It was pointed out all beer sold in the Wheelhouse will stay in the Wheelhouse and people would not be allowed outside with it. And now a new fiscal year has begun and with it a city council election for this November with three seats up for election.

06-26 Complement of the week: A driver was stopped for speeding, and given a citation for his speed. He was from another state and told the officer "I've only had two tickets in 30 years, and the last ticket I got was when I was on vacation 30 years ago and drove through here"! "You guys are on top of it, I hate driving through Oregon".

06-27 Police responded to Ninth and Oregon Streets on a call of a fight in progress. Officers arrived and found that two brothers had been fighting but no assault had occurred. The brothers did not want to pursue a criminal complaint. Both were warned, and one was trespassed from the property.

The vehicle pulled over, and the officer made contact with the driver. As the officer approached the driver he observed what appeared to be the driver putting his trousers on. After the driver was done, he stepped out and the officer determined the driver was not impaired. After the officer talked to the driver he thanked the

Come Together

The Port Orford Ocean Resources Team (POORT) put on a community forum on the Port Orford reef and efforts to protect the fishery on Friday night at the Savoy Theater. The evening began with an hour long reception at the adjacent Wild Wind Café with the presentation at the theater beginning at 6:30pm. It began with opening remarks by local fishermen Blaine Steinmetz about the nearshore fishery. He said the fishermen were showing the scientists how we fish. The evening was hosted by POORT Director Leesa Cobb who then introduced a series of speakers accompanied by slide presentations. Michael, a diver and scientist talked about the three best places in the world to go diving including the Port Orford Reef. He showed a remarkable group of slides of the Port Orford Reef including bull kelp forests, sea lions, whales, and underwater scenes of the various fish that inhabit the reef.

Fisherman Jeff Miles talked about the halibut project to get more local control over the halibut season. This is a multi-year process with no end in sight.

Marcus from the Surfrider Foundation gave a presentation on water quality. He said that the Foundation had recently received a grant to fund a water quality lab at Pacific High School for the fall semester. The biology students will be able to take water samples and analyze them. Marcus invited people at the capacity crowd at the theater to help collect ocean water samples for use by the biology class.

The POORT reef vision is as follows: A sustainable fishery on the Port Orford Reef that utilizes the best science and local experiential knowledge for the community to make local fishery management decisions that (1) sustain and improve the habitat or population base of fish, (2) provide high quality, high value sea food products to consumers, and (3) support the economic viability of the Port Orford Community.

The POORT mission statements is "to engage Port Orford fishers and other community members in developing and implementing a strategic plan and framework that ensures the long-term sustainability of the Port Orford Reef ecosystem and social system dependent on it.

The POORT office is located at the corner of Sixth Street (Highway 101) and Washington next door to Now and Then Mercantile. The public is invited to come by the office and talk with Leesa Cobb and learn more about the organization and how you can help them achieve their vision.

If you ever find yourself feeling a bit ordinary, just remember that you are unique, just like everybody else.

Chamber News

The July Chamber Board meeting will be moved to Monday, July 17 at the Paradise Café at 1:00pm due to vacation schedules and a board vacancy, due to the change in School Superintendents.

The Chamber would like to welcome new member Dad's Coins and Collectibles, owned by Priscilla Lang. Also welcome to new senior members Carol Bergner and Molly Colley.

Thanks to Jim Billings, the Visitor Center staff and the many citizen volunteers who helped the Chamber sell fireworks again this year. We, indeed, are truly appreciative of our volunteers. We couldn't do it without you.

Congratulations to Leesa Cobb and staff at POORT (Port Orford Ocean Resource Team) for the outstanding and informative presentation to the community last Friday night. The Ocean Resource Team, a chamber member, is deeply dedicated to preserving and expanding the Fishery opportunities here in Port Orford to make the commercial fishing business thrive. They presented a fantastic seafood buffet at the Wild Wind Café and then moved next door to the Savoy Theater to hear an all-star lineup of scientists, biologists, researchers, divers and fishermen. The 150 citizens or so that showed up were treated to a spectacular 10 minute movie featuring the underwater and on-top-of-water life at the Orford Reef and how it can play a big part in the future of the fishing industry here in Port Orford and the entire South Coast. The POORT has a new website which will be opening this week at <http://OceanResourceTeam.org>. Great job, again, Leesa!

Look for a news article and a direct mail piece coming to members and local businesses describing the new Chamber rate structure and the new features available, like a custom web page on the Chamber site and banner advertising on DiscoverPortOrford.com and PortOrford.info. In addition, chamber members would actually be able to manage their own pages and advertisements directly. The new rates and services will go into effect on August 1. The Chamber is constantly striving to provide additional services for members to increase the value of the Chamber as we approach our 100th member. Let the Chamber help promote your business.

The Chamber just turned in the Transient Lodging Tax grant funds report. The Chamber received a total of $3,000 in grant funds from the city, raised $3,558.58 in matching funds and was able to obtain $1,441.26 in agency discounts and in-kind production. 96% of all cash went into out of market advertising and visitor promotion for Port Orford and North Curry County. The total value was $7,699.84. Thanks to the city and all the business co-sponsors who helped put together this year's campaign

The Chamber is located in the Visitors Center at historic Battle Rock Park, call us at 332-8055 or stop to pick up a membership form.

Dredging Delayed

Port Manager Gary Anderson estimated Port Orford has lost more than one million dollars in revenue due to boats not being able to get off the dock to fish this year. Army Corps of Engineers representatives Bob Leach and John Craig met with Port Commissioners and the public on Wednesday, June 27 to discuss summer dredging. Craig admitted the Corp is responsible for the delay in putting out the contract for the summer clam shell dredging, but announced the contract did go out for bid Monday, June 26. The bid is out for 30 days. The Corps then requires about two weeks to approve the bid. Craig said if there is an acceptable bid, dredging could start the end of August.

The approved volume of sand to be removed by the clam shell dredge was reduced from 40,000 to 30,000 cubic yards because the Port Orford disposal site, which is regulated by the Oregon Department of Environmental Quality, will only accommodate 30,000 yards. The disposal site is located in front of the jetty.

It was discussed at the meeting that the large volume of fill material from the Gregory slide south of Port Orford that Oregon Department of Transportation shoved into the ocean may have contributed to the harbor retaining more sand than ever. Oregon State Parks issued an emergency permit for the ocean disposal. Anderson stated he will follow up with ODOT to find out how they can help the port.

After years of fighting the shoaling problem, the Commissioners and fishermen are working together to develop new solutions. "Everything is on the table right now," said Anderson. We're looking for short-term and long-term solutions to this problem."

John Fink Promoted

Port Orford Code Enforcement Officer John Fink was promoted to full time police officer effective July 1. Officer Fink has been with the Police Department for over one year, and has over 500 hours of patrol experience as a non-paid reserve officer. Officer Fink was hired about six months ago as a part time Codes Enforcement Officer, and maintained his reserve officer status. According to Chief Creighton, "during the budget hearings the budget committee and common council approved Officer Fink's promotion to full time". "Officer Fink will be a full time police officer with his primary responsibility on Codes Enforcement". Creighton further stated "when I was hired, my initial goal was to make our community safer with a priority to provide fast, safe response to emergency calls within the city limits 24/7". "With only two officers, if one is out of town, and a backup unit is needed because of the severity of the call, the officer might be forced to wait 30 to 45 minutes or longer for a county unit to arrive to assist; this can place our officer and/or citizen in danger so the additional man fixes that problem". "Officer Fink will be attending the Oregon Basic Police Academy September 11, and after that will be a fully certified police officer".

Hanneke Cassel Returns

Another Kramer Trip! Continued from Last Week

About 1:00pm we stopped for lunch at Gary's Diner in Clyde, Ohio. We almost missed it. We drove by but then decided it looked interesting enough to go back and try it. We were glad we did! Valerie had a hamburger made with hand-formed fresh ground beef patties – something you rarely see in restaurants any more - and homemade fries. Evan had a ham and coleslaw sandwich with homemade mashed potatoes. It was the best lunch of the trip except possibly for the one we had at Willie's Diner in Weatherby, Oklahoma.

Rather than take the Turnpike (a not-for-free freeway), we continued on Highway

20 which was nearly as fast and a good deal more interesting. When we got close to Cleveland, we split off onto SR 303 which used to be a narrow, but fast, country drive bypassing the city to the south. No more. The city has overflowed and we got caught in a construction detour and plenty of traffic. We finally got to Valerie's aunt's home about 4:00pm, tired, hot, and cranky again. We stayed only briefly; long enough to decide to head for a Motel 6 in Macedonia, Ohio about 24 miles away in the wrong direction. It wasn't a convenient location but we were too tired to worry about it. We just wanted somewhere to crash for the night and at the end of 3,679.7 miles, we considered the first part of the trip to be over. Whew!

2006-05-09 Tuesday

On Tuesday morning we checked out of Motel 6 intending to find a more convenient base of operations. While loading the truck, Evan chatted with Tim Jenks, the owner of the van parked next to us. Tim's van was unique in that it was the first ever "Brownsmobile". It was in the Browns colors with the word "BROWNS" in large letters on the back and a football helmet painted on the side. (In case you're from Pluto or have Valerie's knowledge of sports, the Cleveland Browns are a football team.) All over the van were dozens of signatures of various current and former players and coaches. Appropriately the license plate read "Fanatik". With dedicated fans like that, the team should do well.

As we drove on the country lanes around Cleveland's east side, Evan saw a vulture on a fence (We'd missed going thru Hinkley, Ohio where the buzzards return ever year to much celebration, the way the swallows do at Capistrano. We also passed one of several "Jellystone Park" camping/recreation areas which we saw on this trip. We didn't, however, see any bears.

Finally, about 10am we arrived at the Heather Hill complex and Valerie got to see her mom – the main reason for this extended outing. Her mom, Ruby, had had dialysis that morning and was weak and tired (more so than normal) so we didn't stay too long. First, we needed to find a base camp for the next few days and with a bit of trouble due to inaccurate maps, we finally found a more conveniently located Motel 6 and settled in. Some of the birds we saw in Ohio were a Great Blue Heron, two buzzards eating a carcass, many geese, a golden finch, a woodpecker, and two cardinals, seen from Ruby's room. We also saw rabbits. (Evan discovered on this trip that Honey Bear is good at flushing rabbits from the underbrush. We don't seem to have many rabbits around Port Orford.)

Then it was off for a bit of shopping. Of course, we had to hit Half-Price books but miracle of miracles, we didn't buy anything. In the same shopping center, however, Evan did discover Panero's coffee and bakery shop which offers free WiFi service which we used to download the last minute information for the newspaper. Over the next few days, we went there several times. Valerie wanted a WiFi finder and was frustrated she hadn't brought one from home. Two computer stores said they never stocked them and the one large store we found had them, but wanted $40-80 each. Since the Fun Zone was selling one for $17, Valerie decided she didn't want one that bad! We finally gave up our shopping and went back to the motel so Valerie could typeset the newspaper. She finally finished the May 11 issue by 10:30pm and went to bed.

2006-05-10 Wednesday

We were on the road by 8am and our first stop was at Panero to send the newspaper masters to Brenda so she could print them. That accomplished we met with Valerie's Aunt again and we all went to the funeral home to make sure all the paperwork was in order. They were having a large funeral, so we made an appointment for the next day. Next we went to the Euclid Avenue Christian Church so Valerie could see where her father's remains had been placed. Then it was back to Aunt Georgia's apartment (why do they call them "apart-ments" when they're all stuck together?) Valerie had a prescription that needed refilling. The first pharmacy we tried, Rite-Aid, didn't have any and said there was a shortage and that it was on allocation. We tried Walgreen's and they had a supply so we left it to be filled and headed back out to Heather Hill to see Mom again. It's truly amazing how time can be nibbled away! We had intended to be there in the morning but it was after noon by the time we got there.

Last Call for Auditions

Just a reminder - Nonsense auditions are July 10th at 7:00 PM at the Community Building! Please bring a prepared song (and the sheet music, if you have it) and a sense of humor.

Some people have asked why I chose to do a musical because it narrows the field for who will audition. This is true. However, we hope to do a musical every Labor Day, then a "straight" (non-musical) play one other time during the year. That way everyone will get to spread their theatrical wings. Musicals are big crowd-pleasers and we hope that it will draw tourists for the long holiday weekend. Also, it is difficult to know who out there wants to perform - and I knew I could find five women who could sing!

There is plenty to do for those who want to be involved, but don't sing. We need lots of help! By being involved in this show, we'll know who is interested in doing a non-musical. So, come down to auditions and at least give us your name and phone number for future reference.

Kids Day Saturday

This Saturday, July 8, Gold Beach Books will hold a Kids Day from 10am to 4:00pm. Activities during the course of the day include readings by children’s author Terry Miller Shannon and Curry Children’s Librarian Abby Haynes, songs, a bookmarker-making session and a comedic “Squiggles” interactive session with Earl Mohr, a/k/a The Reading Wizard of Od’. The day concludes with a uniquely formatted “Literary Water Balloon Contest” in the bookstore’s parking lot, led by Kristin Mayer, a teacher at Rily Creek School.

Miller Shannon, who makes her home in Gold Beach with her husband Craig, a long time UPS driver in the Brookings-Gold Beach area, has published several books, as well as over a hundred essays and articles in publications ranging from Teenwire and The Seattle Post-Intelligencer to The Christian Science Monitor. Most recently, she has focused on works for children, authoring such tomes as Tub Toys, a playful look at children’s bath time, and many educational titles, including When Day Turned to Night, about the Oklahoma Dustbowl, and the Scholastic, Inc. series volumes, Oregon and New Hampshire, plus other books targeting youngsters, such as Building a Better Brother, Sea Turtles and One Frog’s Story.

In addition to reading from her works, Miller Shannon will lead the older girls in attendance in a “Star Sisterz” session, based on the popular line of books which she co-authors. The Star Sisterz volumes have been hailed by reviewer Dr. Mary Pipher, international lecturer and author of the bestseller, Reviving Ophelia: “My grandmother taught me to choose books as carefully as I chose my friends. Good literature has the power to create emotionally sturdy people of good character. Star Sisterz will help the next generation of girls by offering them stories of courage, kindness, imagination, and hope.”

Gold Beach Bookstore owner Ted Watkins said, “Terry is quite likely the most commercially successful and widely published author in our area, but she avoids the limelight. This will be a rare opportunity to meet her and hear her read from her works.” He adds, “It’s part of a day we have been planning for a long time, to celebrate our area’s kids and help foster a love of reading with literary activities - which just happen to be fun!”

Children’s Librarian Haynes will read to preschoolers and lead them in song; later in the day she and Mayer will assist older kids in creating their own bookmarkers from a variety of colorful materials. The “Squiggles” session involves Mohr’s talented way of transforming kids’ random scribbling into humorous pictures. Parents are invited to sit in and observe all of the day’s activities, including the Literary Water Balloon Contest, in which children answer questions about the day’s activities, and then toss water balloons at targets, with books as prizes.

The full schedule of activities is published on the bookstore’s website at OregonCoastBooks.com. The event is open to preschoolers through sixth graders, and their parents, without charge. Optional box lunches will be offered at $3 each, including a beverage. The bookstore is located in the Biscuit Building on Pacific Highway 101 at First Street in Gold Beach.

Phase I Recommendations

The Phase I recommendations for the southern area of Port Orford, submitted by planning consultant, Crystal Shoji, will be presented at the regular meeting of the Planning Commission on Tuesday, July 11 at 7:00pm, at City Hall Gable Chambers. The report is the result of input from hundreds of Port Orford citizens received from survey responses, interviews and at public workshops and a site walk. The study area includes the Highway 101 corridor, Battle Rock City Park, the Port facility and residential and commercial properties in the vicinity.

The public is invited to attend the meeting to listen to the Planning Commission discussion about how public input can help determine work to be completed in Phase II of the project. Copies of the recommendations from Phase I will be available at the meeting and the full report will be available on the City's Web page at www.portorford.org later in the month of July.

Recommendations in the report include options that can be implemented through the City's planning ordinances including, but not limited to the following: maintaining the small town atmosphere; providing more definition for the shopping area in the vicinity of Battle Rock City Park; limiting the footprint and scale of new commercial structures; diversifying the Port; and respecting and enhancing the City's natural environment and character.

Planners note that city planning does not regulate the amount of growth, but planning can steer growth in specific directions over time by the City's adoption of any new planning regulations.

The Oregon Department of Land Conservation and Development's Oregon Coastal Management Program Technical Assistance/Priority Project Grant provided funding assistance for the project.

Keg Toss Results

We would like to thank everyone who participated in the keg toss this year. A special thanks to all the local businesses that donated items for prizes (there are too many to list, but you know who you are). Without their support this event and future events would not be possible. Also a big thanks to the Port and Starboard and Pitches for donating the kegs. We would also like to thank Brian Watjen, Tommy Hagelstein and Don Alexander for helping measure the keg tosses, as well as George Becker for his help with the platform.

And now for the winners:

School Zone Law Changes

The law in Oregon changed for school zones effective July 1. The Oregon State Legislature came back to the planet and revised their previously enacted school zone speed laws. They had created some 20 mile per hour, 24 hours a day 7 days a week school zones such as the ones in Port Orford and in Coos Bay in the Bunker Hill School zone. The law in the Port Orford school zone is now 20 miles per hour when the lights are flashing. This means the speed limit in the school zone when the lights are not flashing is 30 miles per hour.

According to Police Chief Mark Creighton the Oregon Department of Transportation will set the hours that the lights flash in the school zone. ODOT sets the hours and controls the flashing sign as well as maintains it.
