No Business Like Fish Business By Evan Kramer

There are many things going on regarding Port Orford's number one industry ZKLFKL VFRPPHUFLODKLQJ7KH3RUWRI. Port Orford Commission met on Tuesday night, January 15 in regular session DQGUVWKHDUGIURP3RUW2UIRUG2FHDQ. Resource Team (POORT) executive director Leesa Cobb. She presented a brief oral update on the status of POORT. She mainly spoke about the POORT's goal of establishing a marine research station in Port Orford. She said they need and are looking for a facilities' director for the research station. They want to hire this person within the next six months and are looking aggressively for funding for the position. She said the research station will need a scientist to go along with the director. One of the main problems with the research station is that POORT does not yet have a location for it. They want it to be eventually located at the Port of Port Orford but for now are looking for an off site location. The Port has very little developable property other than their Fifth and Washington lot and the area the cannery building sits on and some adjacent land. They have no money or immediate plans to build a new building at the Port which could house a research station.

Port Manager Gary Anderson spoke about the storm damage to the Port from the December 2-3 storms. He said he had ordered a new fuel system at a cost of $6,700 plus $1,200 for installation. He said the fuel system possibly failed because of the storm. Anderson said the 3RUW KDG QRW UHSODFHG WKH YKHUHQ. Fishermen currently pay $15 a month IRUXVHRIWKHYKHUPHQVKRLVWSQGHU. son told the commission that as of April 15 of this year all gasoline sold in Oregon will have to contain 10% ethanol. He said that ethanol was not good for the commercial boats that have gasoline engines and will damage them. Ethanol is a desiccant that absorbs water. The Port manager will write a letter against this new rule requiring ethanol in the gasoline and it will be sent to the proper politicians and agencies.

The Port Commission (Ed Dowdy, Scott Luhr-chairman, Bob Mielenz, Dave Rickel and Stan Johnson) discussed whether or not to send Gary Anderson to Washington D.C. on the annual lobbying trip on behalf of Port dredging and other issues. They decided to send him to Washington this year at an approximate cost of $500. Several other Port commissioners from other coastal towns participate in this lobbying experience.

The Commission met in executive session under real estate and after returning to regular session decided to rent on a month to month basis the 10' by 16' building at the Port to Monty King, owner of Dockside Computers. King plans to provide a new computer business providing computer services and troubleshooting to area residents.

for strongly. He wants 10-12 marine

Many parts of the coast have arisen in in Port Orford there has been more of

Letter to Editor,

Some of you may have recently received a notice from the Port Orford Chamber of Commerce asking for a donation for Radar controlled speed signs. These VLJQV DVKDYHUEULJKW DVKQLQVSHHC indication to the passing motorist, and convey a very obvious awareness of your speed. This request stems from a growing concern and discussions ongoing for some time among citizens and business owners about the image Port Orford has acquired over the past few years as a speed trap. Unfortunately, the City's reputation as a "speed trap" has spread out of the region and begun to attract national attention. (<http://www.speedtrap.org/speedtraps/comments.asp?state=OR&city=Port%20Orford&st=37666>) Of course none of us wish to see cars speed unabatedly through town. The efforts of local law enforcement have produced no deterrent to out of town speeders as evidenced by the record number of tickets written.

Somehow, Port Orford manages to write PRUH WUDIF WLFNHWV WKDQ %URRNLOJV Gold Beach, and Bandon combined. This is in spite of having a much smaller portion of highway than these other communities. Obviously the local police efforts to deter speeders is a failure, and is causing irreparable damage to the image and economic well being of the city with no appreciable improvement in safety. The "hide and nail them" strategy brings in an impressive amount of cash. Sadly this is at the expense of the city image and lost business to the community. A good example of this mentality is the acquisition of surplus Police cars such as the hot rod Camaro that is more suited to chasing 100mph speeders on I-5 than hapless tourists being chased through Port Orford by a rookie or reserve local.

Many of you are aware that the city Radar wagon is rarely seen on the streets. Why? Could it be that it is bad for the ticketing business? At any rate this has prompted the incentive to see what can be done to restore lost image and business with some decent permanent speed deterring radar signs at each end of town that operate 24/7. Two more should also be placed in the center of town on each end of the school zone. These have proven extremely effective in other cities, and have enabled them to reduce their Police force and consequent expense to the taxpayers. Imagine a one-time $10,000 dollar expenditure for four signs solving the lions share of the speeding problem and making the streets safer at the same time. Port Orford taxpayers are now paying $123,000 per year for the police levy.

In an effort to get the ball rolling on this effort, NC Electronics, Inc. is offering WRSXUFKDVHVKHJVWVZRVLJQVDW of approximately $5,000 if the Chamber members and citizens can match this to purchase the second two. These four signs will be placed in selected locations on each end of the city and school zone. We urge any of you who share these concerns to support the Chamber and give what you can to this effort. The process needs to begin to restore our damaged image and perhaps get some of these passing motorists to slow down and get a taste of what the city has to offer and spread the positive word instead of the negative.

Wildfire Protection Plan

Curry Wildfire Preparation

announced today that a draft of the Wildfire Protection Plan is now available for public review. Comments from the public are due by January 25, 2008. The Team is back on the feasibility of the plan, additional suggested actions, and any other thoughts or perspectives people might have. The plan was developed by members of the Curry County Emergency Services, Coos Forest Protective Association, Curry Fire Chief's Association, Bureau of Land Management - Coos Bay District, Rogue River-Siskiyou National Forest, County GIS, local municipalities and the South Coast Watershed Councils.

The plan outlines, among many topics, resources and capabilities available to address the risk, strategies to help vulnerable populations reduce their risks from wildfire. The plan was developed by members of the Curry County Emergency Services, Coos Forest Protective Association, Curry Fire Chief's Association, Bureau of Land Management - Coos Bay District, Rogue River-Siskiyou National Forest, County GIS, local municipalities and the South Coast Watershed Councils.

The plan was developed by members of the Curry County Emergency Services, Coos Forest Protective Association, Curry Fire Chief's Association, Bureau of Land Management - Coos Bay District, Rogue River-Siskiyou National Forest, County GIS, local municipalities and the South Coast Watershed Councils.

The draft document is a result of several years of research and planning. Since the biscuit Fire of 2002, local, state, and federal partners have come together to understand the factors that place Curry County at risk and to develop strategies to reduce that risk.

The CWPT Team initiated a comprehensive planning process in 2007 to develop a Comprehensive Wildfire Protection Plan. In the course of the past year, the CWPT used the analysis from a county-wide structural vulnerability assessment and a biophysical factors analysis to understand the biophysical factors that influence wildfire risk.

Hard copies of the plan are available at public libraries throughout Curry County and online at <http://ri.uoregon.edu/programs/CCE/curry.html>. Please submit comments by Friday, January 25, 2008 to Kathy Lynn by email at kathy@uoregon.edu, by fax at 541-346-2040, or by mail: Attn: Kathy Lynn, 5247 University of Oregon, Eugene, OR 97403.

Coast Baseball League News

The Coast Baseball League of Port Orford would like to inform everyone that we have recently joined the Little League Association in Gold Beach. Practices will be held here in Port Orford. Games will be played right in here

Port Orford, as well as in Gold Beach with Gold Beach teams, Brookings teams and possibly other local communities. We will also be able to take advantage of the extra player training opportunities Gold Beach Little League has to offer. We feel this will be a better opportunity for the children of our community.

Little League season starts earlier than our previous Cal Ripken League! So, at this time we are asking for your cooperation in our transition. The most important thing right now is registration. We need to turn in the number of players and teams as soon as possible. We need future players to turn in their registration so we can start forming teams and scheduling games for the Spring. If you are unable to pay the registration fee ($25 per player) at this time, it's ok, but we need to know if your child/children are going to play ball. However, fee's must be paid before the start of the season in the Spring. We will be unable to accept registrations after Saturday, February 16! Forms are being sent home with students of Driftwood and Blanco and forms can also be picked up at Sterling and Blanco at either school.

We believe this is a great opportunity for our children. For any questions feel free to call 348-2094 or send us an email at thePhillips@wildblue.net. Let's Play Ball!

School District News Update

On January 14, at the Port Orford-Langlois School District board meeting, there was information presented in regards to the Department of Education collecting monies owed from the 2005-2006 school year. Because of a reporting error, the district has been overpaid by approximately $600,000.

The Superintendent and Business Manager of 2CJ have written an appeal to the Department of Education, requesting their review of this information and a request that due to the extenuating circumstances of the district that they look at forgiving a portion of this debt and then allowing the district to be put on a payment plan to reimburse the rest.

The 2CJ School Board will be holding a special board meeting on January 28th at 6:00 PM at the Driftwood Library to discuss this current year. The public is invited to attend.

The 2CJ School District will continue to capitalize on the opportunity to take advantage of the necessary repairs and include the changes that have been discussed with staff to improve the high school facilities to better serve students and staff. This will be paid for out of the capital fund in order to lessen the impact to the general fund.

Superintendent Ruby Price stated that it is because the administration and staff of the district have been so conscientious with their district funds that, no matter what happens, we will be able to make the adjustments with minimal impact. We do not foresee any lay-offs and fully anticipate that teachers' budgets will remain intact.

Demonstration Garden By Jennifer Ewing

People in our community have been asking me about the garden and how it is coming along, so I thought I'd better bring you up to date.

We had a great response from the community to our requests for donations and our thanks go out to all who gave generously. However, we're a long way from having enough funds to get us going and we need your help.

The lumber has been purchased and the seeds have arrived. Look for the beds to be built and in place during the next two weeks. The next big purchase will be a generous soul with a big dump truck to deliver 13 yards of soil and compost from Bandon to the garden site.

It's been a big project to coordinate and the paperwork has been a tedious task, but we're on our way and looking forward to planting the beds and teaching workshops.

We've been thrilled with the interest and support for the garden project by the community of Port Orford and can't wait for the garden to become a reality.

Donations for the Port Orford Educational Demonstration Garden Process (POEDG) can be sent to PO Box 167, Port Orford, OR 97465.

News from St. John's By Viv Williams

The parishioners of St. John's will take an imaginary trip way down yonder to New Orleans on Thursday evening January 31 when we will celebrate the Carnival Season and Mardi Gras with a Southern style potluck dinner. Costumes are optional and encouraged.

Decorations in the Mardi Gras colors of purple, green, and gold, dancing, and authentic Mardi Gras beads sent to us by the parishioners of St. Clement of Rome Parish in Metairie, Louisiana will round out the evening. We assisted them in their rebuilding efforts after Hurricane Katrina. They wanted to be sure we had enough beads so they sent us nearly 10 pounds with their best wishes for a great celebration!

The beads were delivered to Rick and Viv Williams by Russell and Roselyn Marchand, longtime members of St. Clement's, when they took a break from their own recovery efforts and visited Port Orford. Viv and Roselyn have been friends since 1960 when they went to St. Joseph High School in New Orleans.

To all of our Port Orford friends, we extend the traditional Mardi Gras greeting "Laissez les bons temps rouler!" – "Let the good times roll!"

Theater 101 News

On February 9, at 7:30pm Theatre 101 welcomes Aunt Lena to Port Orford. Who is Aunt Lena, you ask? Well..... she is the creation (and alter ego) of Portland-based performing artist Anne Louise Sterry. Anne Louise grew up in Hoboken, New Jersey, in a large Italian-American family. Aunt Lena is a "deluxe antipasto of all of her Italian relatives and her experiences growing up in North Jersey. Out of the box, not so polite, and often not quite what you expect, Aunt Lena loves life and squeezes every piece of zest out of it. "Aunt Lena will share with us her thoughts on life, Tickets are $10.00 and go on sale at the Fun Zone on February 1. For more information, visit Aunt Lena's web page at auntlenasez.com, or call 332-PLAY.

Wastewater Report

The City of Port Orford Public Works department treated 4,675,000 of water in December at the wastewater treatment plant was 100,000 gallons on December 1. The highest gallons. The city administrator attributes the difference to what is known as caused by groundwater leaking into the wastewater pipes.
