Space Aliens Land! New Library Opens! Council Recall Begins! What Else is New? By Evan Kramer

The July 4 Jubilee parade welcomed space aliens this year. The final entry in this year's parade was a spaceship named the "Intergalactic Cruiser" though not carrying Ziggy Stardust and the Spiders from Mars. The musically enhanced float was a huge hit with parade watchers. It was the brainchild of Tyler Digby, Kean Fleming and Damien Hawthorne. They had lots of dancers and other participants to help out and were welcomed from the planet of Aluminum Foil to Port Orford with open arms. Thanks to them for helping make the parade so special. Their float won the Judge's Choice Award in the Parade. Other big winners in the parade were the antique tractors taking the Best of Class and the Jensen Family Band taking Best of Show.

The next day Port Orford turned out en masse to celebrate the grand opening of their new library. Hundreds of people showed up over the course of the afternoon to see what was for many, their first look at the inside of the library.

Port Orford Librarian Tobe Porter made some remarks to the large crowd and said that of the $2 million cost for the new library which included the landscaping $700,000 came in donations from the local community and she went through some of the many fundraising efforts. Though they might have seemed small at the time compared to how much money was needed they added up and the results were evident on Saturday afternoon. Tobe Porter couldn't thank people enough for their help and they in turn thanked her with a hearty round of applause. Port Orford Library President Ann Voltin said the board could not have gotten the library built without the support of the community and thanked the other board members Erna Barnett, Edna Auld, Weld Champneys, and Sherry Johnson. Voltin acknowledged the help from the Friends of the Library group and suggested people check out the Friends of the Library store within the library.

Tobe Porter also thanked and introduced senior librarian Midge Hayes and then Sandy Westerman who was described as taking care of library problems. Sandy Westerman spends as much time at the library as anyone in her many roles as cataloguer, library technician, trouble shooter and keeper of the numbers on the new library construction. Porter described the new library as a big uplift for the community and thanked everyone for their help in building it.

People had been wondering if the new library will have a magazine exchange rack and yes, they do. It is a new one and already has a good selection. It is located in the entrance hallway along with the book exchange rack. There is a community meeting room in the library dedicated to free speech. Other rooms include a large room for the children's library, an Oregon room for small meetings and the Friends store plus office and storage space. Best thing to do now is get on down there and take a look if you haven't seen it and mainly take advantage of it for what it is – a great resource for books, magazines, books on tape, CDs, and of course plenty of computers for those who want to travel the Internet. The library has seven Internet computers for the public with one dedicated to online gaming. Three of the Internet computers can be reserved for one hour blocks of time one day in advance while the other three are for one half hour at a time. People can bring their laptops into the library and connect via a wireless connection once they get the password. The library has enough bandwidth for six wireless computers at a time.

What Else Is New?

There are many nice quiet spaces and comfortable chairs to sit on and relax and enjoy a book or magazine in this library. It is a very relaxing place to be and one you won't want to hurry in and out of but stay for awhile. The library is open Monday through Saturday from 10:00-5:00pm except on Thursday when it is open until 8:00pm.

It might have been said before it's nice that the library reminded people that this new library is debt-free. The $450,000 bond issue that was passed was not authorized, no local tax dollars were used in the construction of the library and the library tax rate will not go up to operate this library which is over five times the size of the former one at Port Orford City Hall. One thing that helps keep the cost down on running a library this size is the amount of enthusiastic volunteers who work there helping out at the front desk and in other capacities. Thank you all and thank you Port Orford for creating this marvelous public space in the heart of town.

DeFazio Visits the Port By Evan Kramer

Representative Peter DeFazio visited Port Orford last Tuesday as part of a whirlwind tour of the south coast starting in Brookings and ending up at the grand opening of the new North Bend Airport Terminal.

He began his time in Port Orford meeting with Port Manager Gary Anderson and Port Commission Chairman Scott Luhr for a talk and also a walking tour of the Port. John Craig from the Army Corps of Engineers was also there for the discussion on dredging and the problems with the jetty. Luhr took DeFazio for a tour of the Norcal live fish facility.

Then DeFazio was driven over to the Port Orford News office for a meeting with News editor and publisher Matt Hall. DeFazio's assistant had only arranged for the Congressman to meet with Hall. However, Hall generously decided to invite several other people in on the meeting including Mayor Jim Auburn, Chamber president David Smith, City Administrator Mike Murphy, Planning Commission Chairman Dave Holman and the Port Orford Today. DeFazio was given a color reproduction of the east jetty idea from the 1980's. A cost of $30 million was thrown out as a cost for that project if it were to happen. It will cost the AOEC $100,000 for a modeling study of the east jetty.

Mayor Auburn told DeFazio the City of Port Orford was encumbered in debt. He said the current sewer system outfall was in good shape but that we are still paying for the sewer outfall leach field at Agate Beach which was destroyed in 1998. Auburn told DeFazio about our old and aging water distribution system.

Mike Murphy spoke about the need to raise the dam at the city reservoir by ten feet at a cost of $2 million with $200,000 as the estimated cost of the engineering study for raising the dam which would dramatically increase water storage. The City is looking for money for a study of Garrison Lake in anticipation of it potentially becoming a source of city water again. DeFazio said there was a possibility of Portland State University doing the study.

Talk turned to the high price of gasoline with DeFazio noting the gas tax hadn't been increased since 1993. The Federal gas tax is 18 cents per gallon. DeFazio suggested the gas tax be indexed so as the price goes up so does the tax though he added any gas tax increase isn't going to happen. DeFazio serves as the Chairman of the House Subcommittee on Highways and Transit which has held 22 hearings on the Highway and Transit Bill slated for a vote next year. He said he wants a major infrastructure bill to come out of it. That's why the City officials were so eager to talk infrastructure need with DeFazio as he is well aware of the needs locally and nationwide.

Port Commission Meets

The Port of Port Orford Commission meets on Tuesday, July 15, 7:00pm, in the city hall council chambers.

July 4 Skate Park Demo

The crowd at the Port Orford Skate Park was once again treated to a great show by our mostly local skateboarders.

You could really tell that they had been practicing and adding to their repertoire of tricks and style. The new bowl that was added this year, thanks to a lot of dedication, hard work and approximately 1300 plus of volunteer labor, was a great success and was used to show off the skateboarders continuing skills and adaptability. The original bowl "America's First Cradle" also showed a lot of action with several skaters taking advantage of the cradle. From the youngest skater to the oldest they put on a really great show. The crowd seemed to really enjoy it with shouts of encouragement and cheers for the skaters.

There was also a new t-shirt design for sale this year. The proceeds from the sales go toward the P.O. Skate Park Addition Fund, so if you missed buying one there are still some available. 2008 design are $12 each with last years 2007 design for $10 each. ### Sole Pursuits Fundraiser Sole Pursuits takes their "Heart and Sole" into the ancient forests of the Redwoods this September 26-28.

Sole Pursuits is a free hiking program sponsored by the Curry Health District offered as a health and wellness program for people of Curry County and folks from outlying areas. Exercise is one of the most affective ways to minimize your risk of heart & lung disease, diabetes, cancer, and general obesity.

Join Sole Pursuits as they explore the amazing forests of the BIG TREES. In Northern California the Coast Redwood trees grow as old as 2,000 years and reach more than 350 feet high with just the right climate. When Jedediah Smith explored this area in 1828 he wrote in his journal that the redwoods are the noblest tree he had ever seen. Where there were once 2 million acres of redwood forests, now only 4% remain standing today, protected largely because of the "Save the Redwoods League" that was established in 1918.

Limited to 25 participants, the group will be staying at the Redwoods National Park Hostel south of Crescent City. A restored 1908 pioneer home with ocean views from every room, and a beach right across the road. Sleeping will be in 4 dorm style rooms with bunk beds. The rooms will be established as men's, women's, and co-ed as needed. Bedding will be provided. There is a large living room area, dining area, and outside decks, with a day use park and campfire possibilities across the street. All meals will be catered.

For Saturday's hike, there will be a choice as to route and difficulty, but participants should already be in fairly good shape, and plan to hike most of the day. We will be hiking at least 8 leisurely miles.

Time spent in a Redwood forest is priceless, but this weekend adventure is only $140 per person and includes lodging, food (2 breakfasts/lunches/dinners), and a guided hike all day on Saturday. Other hikes may be offered Friday afternoon, and Sunday. The cost of this adventure also includes a $30 tax deductible donation to the Sole Pursuits hiking program.

To get your application visit the Curry General Hospitals website at www.curryhealthnetwork.com. Click on Health Services, and then go to Sole Pursuits. Applications need to be in by August 31. Call Cathy Boden, Sole Pursuits Coordinator at 541-332-5039, or solepursuits@curryhealthnetwork.com for more information.

Joe Saves the Day

The Port Orford Volunteer Department responded to a house fire on Vista Drive in Cedar Terrace area on Tuesday night of last week at approximately 10:45pm. The fire was discovered by the owner of the house Napina “Nip” Barker. She had been awakened by the incessant barking of her dog Joe, a dachshund, who was outside at the time. Once Joe woke Napina up she noticed the glow of the fire and went outside and immediately called the fire department. The fire originated in the chimney on the second floor.

The 2,500 square foot custom built log home was gutted by the fire but no one was physically injured. Nip and her late husband John Barker had the home built and moved into it in April 1984. It was constructed of Canadian Spruce logs from British Columbia which had been specially shipped to Port Orford for their home.

Napina Barker said the fire department did a wonderful job and thanked them for their efforts. Her son Don Barker also said how appreciative he was of Fire Chief Gayle Wilcox and the fire department’s efforts and that of Police Chief Mark Creighton who arrived at the scene and helped with crowd control which was needed and included one arrest. The Sixes and Langlois Fire Departments also responded to fire which took several hours to put out. And Joe was the real hero of the evening because if he didn’t wake up his master who knows how bad it could have been.

Port Orford in the News

Check out the current July-August issue of Oregon Coast Magazine now for sale on newsstands. Port Orford is on the front cover of the popular magazine and inside is a six page article and photos written by local resident and author Shirley Nelson. The photos were contributed by Steven Thompson and Alicia Spooner. Nelson’s article entitled “Port Orford On the Edge of the Pacific” includes her walking tour of town and comments on many businesses and information about three of our more historical sites including Hughes House, the Cape Blanco Lighthouse and the Lifeboat Station Museum.

Recall Drive Started

A recall drive has begun against three Port Orford City Councilors and the Mayor. Councilors Steve Abbott, John Hewitt, and David Smith along with Mayor Jim Auburn are the target of the recall papers which were taken out on July 7 by Chief Petitioner Jack Marohl. Proponents of the recall have until October 6 to gather 79 valid signatures of city voters in order to qualify each elected official for a recall election. The main reason stated for the recall of Abbott, Hewitt and Smith is their “failure to respond in accordance with the majority of recommendations of citizens who lawfully and systematically protested by voice and letter to allow a local business to remain open.” The chief complaint against Auburn is “he does not lead.” A full statement of reasons is available at city hall.

Abbott, Smith and Auburn are serving terms of office that are coming up for election this November while Hewitt is in the middle of a four year term. The City of Port Orford will have to pay for the costs associated with the recall if it happens. It cost the City of Lakeside $3,500 for their recent council recall election.

Sand Sculpture Winners

Undaunted by rain in the early hours of July Fourth, twenty groups of intrepid sand artists demonstrated their creativity, wit, and ingenuity from castles and temples to mermaids, teacups to turtles and carbon footprints on Dock Beach in the Jubilee Sand Sculpture Contest.

Three prizes with cash awards from $5 to $20 were presented in three categories: Adult, Youth, and Mixed Ages.

In the Adult category, first place went to “Ocean View,” depicting a sun bather; second to a flipped boat called “Wrong Turn,” and third was the grass decorated “Casa de Garwen.”

In the Youth category, first place was a cat and horse named “Best Friends;” second was called “Live by the Sun, Love by the Moon;” and third went to “Starfish Fort.”

In Mixed, first went to an agate-decorated “Little Mermaid;” second went to “Whale Watcher;” and third was called “Mi Casa.”

A gold castle “People’s Choice” trophy went to the Hoffman children from Albany for their finely proportioned cat and horse figures.

Appreciation goes out to all who made this event such an enthusiastic success.

Go Wild!

Curt Nelson's Slightly Illusional program Go Wild! is returning to the Langlois Library on Thursday, July 17 at 3:30. Kids, go on a wild imaginary tour of your backyards, neighborhoods, and parks. Through magic, puppetry, and storytelling, Curt and his madcap group of furry and feathered friends will teach young readers about using the Scientific Process to answer questions about their own environment. The Go Wild! science safari begins with an explanation of the scientific process by super-hero Super Frog. Next, Beauregard the Vulture re-enacts the story from Aesop's The Crow and the Pitcher as he teaches about hypotheses and experiments. Science teaching continues with Pety the Opossum, Leanne the Bunny, and finally Roosevelt Rat. Don't miss this science program that is so good that the National Science Center in Augusta, Georgia asked to endorse it. Free of charge. See you on Thursday, July 17 at the Langlois Public Library (348-2066). Sponsored by the Langlois and Port Orford Public Libraries and by a generous grant from the Wild Rivers Community Foundation.

Confusion abounds amongst the public's understanding of the exact consequences that will be wrought by global warming since there are two divergent groups of scientists who have taken up battle stations to defend the veracity of their prognosis.

The first category of scientists are those with ties to corporate oil gas and coal interests employed as their lobbyists along with proficient prevaricators, paid hirelings, whose exclusive job, in many instances, is to impugn global warming or the greenhouse effect's validity. Their given task is to confuse and befuddle, the public's perception about the pernicious effects wrought by global warming, with fables and ambiguities. They claim global warming is a figment of the imagination.

Scientists without corporate ties to utilities and allied industries are in firm concert with their composite findings, which indicates that if the stratosphere heats up beyond two degrees it will cease its allocated function of absorbing carbon dioxide, and instead start replicating its own carbons. If and when it reaches three degrees in the inevitability exists that all human endeavor to control and harness carbon emissions or to reverse the accumulative concentration will be of no avail. At four degrees nature will run amuck and the habitat we call earth and home will become untenable for future human existence.

This gory depiction is not a fictional scenario or fantasy being conjured up by wild-eyed doomsday sayers who are in the last stages of dementia. Be assured that it is sober rendition an indictment of man's indiscriminate misuse of technology and subsequent refusal to cope expeditiously with the aftermath of the gigantic accumulation of atmospheric carbon. This vast carbon shroud restricts the sun's rays that heat the earth from venting back into space.

Those billions of tons of carbon trapped and hovering above us was initially unleashed 120 years ago at the inception of the Industrial Revolutions. This vast mountain of carbon has achieved monumental proportions.

Another contributing factor adding to the proliferation of carbon is to found situated on the ocean floor. That additional threat further fueling the proliferation of carbon along with the earths increasing inability to sequester carbon emissions conveys the significance of the underlying reason why carbon dioxide has reached such epic impact on the environment.

Letter to the Editor,

I would like to thank everyone who participated in the 13th Annual J.R. Allison Memorial Salt Water Open. Eighty-seven people enjoyed nine holes of golf with a tennis ball from Hubbard's Creek to Battle Rock Saturday morning. The weather was beautiful, the wind was calm and the tide was slowly creeping in on us. A big thank you to Nancy and Bruce McLeod, (J.R. and Nancy started this fun 13 years ago) Rita and Gary Silveus, Timber and Jen Hunter, Ron Dean, Suzy Hutchinson, Leroy Miller and many others. While enjoying our round of golf the participants also did a Beach Clean-Up from Hubbard's Creek to Battle Rock gathering many garbage bags full of trash as we do every year. Thank you for making this the most successful Salt Water Open to date and supporting the J.R. Allison Memorial Scholarship Fund for our Pacific High School Graduates. We all look forward to seeing you next year to have fun in

Letter to the Editor,

I was disappointed by the letter concerning the new library in last week's paper. Once again, Californians were given all the credit. In my small circle of friends, there were native Oregonians, transplanted New Yorkers, Washingtonians, Michiganders, Illini, Oklahomans, Arizonans, Rhode Islanders, North Carolinians, Missourians, New Mexicans, Belgians, Massachusettsans, Canadians, Pennsylvanians, New Jerseyites, Azoreans, Connecticut, and yes, a couple of Californians plus a newly minted US citizen all of whom supported the new library.

I think a new medical center or hospital is a great idea. If Mr. Briggs will lead the effort, all of us American and foreign-born Port Orfordians are ready and eager to help out. Maybe we can do that without bond money too.

Garden Club Tour Coming Up

Suspense is building as local gardeners prepare for Sunset Garden Club's 7th Annual Garden Tour. They're wondering, "Will my dahlias bloom by July 26th? (Not likely this year.) Will my lilies be finished by then? There might be some really nice berries, but will the birds find them first?" No matter what the weather brings, we assure you there will be plenty of inspiring things to see on the tour, which we've titled "Gardens That Sustain Us." You can purchase a ticket, in the form of a map, at Downtown Fun Zone or God's Green Earth Nursery. Start anywhere on the map, from ten o'clock until four, and move along at your own pace on this self-guided tour. Bring lots of friends; the gardeners look forward to meeting you all. For more information call Molly at 332-3860.

Library Board Meeting

The Port Orford Library Board will meet at 4:30pm on Monday, July 14 at the Library. The agenda is posted on the post office and library bulletin boards. The public is always welcome to attend.

Living History Skit

Friends of Cape Blanco will again present the living history skit, "Jane and Annie at Home," on Wednesday, July 16 at historic Hughes House. First presented on Mother's Day, the skit features 74-year-old Jane Hughes, widow of Patrick, and her daughter-in-law Annie, young wife of Francis Hughes. The two women sit at the kitchen table, sip tea, and discuss their lives on the ranch. Approximate times of the upcoming presentation will be 12:30, 1:30 and 2:30 pm.

Letter to the Editor,

Port Orford cannot afford to "suffer fools gladly." Please go re-read the City Administrator's carefully stated legal information about the "local business" issue.

But, as the wife of one of the councilmen you are attempting to recall -- please tell me where to sign the petition. Half his time is taken up with this nonsense!
